

Welcome Home...

...to security, comfort
and peace of mind.

Some of the best times in life are the ones you spend right in your own house. The first rainy night you slept there—as a brand new homeowner. The birthdays and holidays. The memories and milestones.

As long as you're spending some of your most memorable moments in your home, make sure to spend enough time choosing the right security system. One that watches over your property and the people you love—when you're home and when you aren't. Count on Honeywell. Our products do more than keep you safe...they can keep you connected to your home and family, make your home more comfortable and provide a level of simplicity and convenience you'll really appreciate.

Best of all, they can enhance the quality of your family's life. And what could make you feel more secure than that? Welcome home to peace of mind.

Security Meets Style

There's a Honeywell keypad to suit any lifestyle, budget and décor. Choose from talking keypads, stylish keypads that match any interior, portable wireless models—even brilliant graphic touchscreens that double as digital picture frames.

On the Go and in the Know

Ever wish you could be in more than one place at a time? With Honeywell Total Connect™ Remote Services, you can! Now you can receive important alerts, view live video, stay connected to your home and control your security system remotely on the same mobile devices you use each and every day.

Sense the Possibilities

Honeywell's advanced sensors can detect when your window is open or broken, if a door is ajar or if an intruder has entered your home. They can alert you upon detecting floods and extreme temperatures—helping to prevent or minimize damage in your home. Our outdoor sensors can even monitor your gate, garage or shed—offering you complete, whole house protection.

The Ultimate Protection

Should a fire strike or if carbon monoxide is detected in your home, only monitored detectors can provide a signal to your central station, where emergency authorities can be summoned 24 hours a day, every day.

You're in Control

Our stylish, compact wireless remotes offer the features of traditional keypads with convenient fingertip control. The press of a single button lets you operate your security system, lights, garage doors and more.

Energy Management

Save energy every time you leave your home and arm your system. Our security systems can automatically adjust thermostats and control lighting to help you stay comfortable, save money and conserve energy without having to change your daily routine.

For more information:

www.honeywell.com/security

Automation and Control Solutions

Honeywell Security Products Americas

2 Corporate Center Dr. Suite 100

P.O. Box 9040

Melville, NY 11747

1.800.467.5875

www.honeywell.com

L/EUBROCHB/D

May 2015

© 2015 Honeywell International Inc.

Honeywell